NOVA ERA FAQs AND ERRATA (VERSION 1.1 19 DEC 2024)

FAQ

- Q: When do Disaster markers reset to 0?
A: Disasters only trigger during the Check for Disasters Phase. Only after a Disaster has resolved, then do you reset that Disaster's marker to the 0.
- Q: What does the term majority and most majorities mean, when used in scoring Victory Points?
A: Majority refers to a player whose Civilization has the most cards of a specific type of Technology/Territory than any other player.
Most Majorities refers a player whose Civilization has the most cards in multiple types of Technology/Territory among all players in the game.
- Q: When developing a Technology, can I use a die of a different color?
A: Yes. You may use a die of a different color but must pay in full using your resources matching the color of the technology.
- Q: When playing bi-colored technology cards, can I use a combination of different colored resources?
A: No. You may only pay for bi-colored technology costs in 1 of the 2 specified colors.
- Q: When a Disaster triggers, can a bi-colored card that shares the color of the triggered Disaster be damaged if it's in a different colored slot of a player's civilization?
A: No. Once a bi-colored card is played into a Civilization, it assumes the color of the slot it is played in and loses its bi-colored status.
- Q: When a Disaster is triggered, can a Damaged card be selected to be put into the Past?
A: No. Damaged cards do not count as active cards that are targetable when resolving effects in the game.
- Q: When stealing a Territory card, (ex. Genghis Khan) does the stealing player need to fulfill the stolen Territory's requirements?
A: No. Territory card requirements are ignored when being stolen.
- Q: For the first point in the Scoring Phase, do I gain VP for each Technology/Territory card I have in play?
A: No. You gain VP for each type of Technology/Territory you have in play. Ex: 2  and 1  in play gives you 2VP.
